AN ITCHING PALM

Their Confession Held to Discredit Testimony Given at the Trial.

ALL QUIET IN POWHATAN

Many Rumors Following Murder Declared to Be Without Foundation.

POWHATAN, VA., May 11 .- The latt confession of the negroes, Robert the slightest doubt that the prisoners were guilty of one of the most horrible crimes ever committed, and that this prevalent impression, differing in nothing from a moral certainty, existed long before the trials commenced and prepared people for statements which were so improbable that but for the previous misstatements they would have discredited themselves.

In all these trials the boys were the trial guires. To be named by them trial guires. To he named an even dozen. These were themselves, Joe and Isham Taylor, Lewis Jenkin, John and William Brown, Olile Ross, Monie Johnson and the mysterious strangers from Amelia.

Over and over they swore that these were all who were there. They were asked, both by the attorneys for the defense, if it was possible for any one also to have been present, and in every instance they replied: "No."

They were asked several times if it was possible for charles and Emanuel Brown to have been the two men who drove up in the buggy and whom Isham called the "Amelia men." to which they sepfled that it was not; that they were well acquainted with Charles and Emanuel; that they were darkskinned and that their horse was a cream-colored horse, while the strangers were ginger-cake-colored and drove a horse that was white.

On the morning that the boys were taken back to Henrico jail they wore akain asked if it was possible that these could have been Charles and Emanuel, and they again denied the possibility. These facts are incontroverishe and it is this knowledge which screates the suspicion that perhaps their restimony at the trial was of the same character as their present conversion, and thus leaves it to unpleasmat appendiation whether all of those why have already gone to their deaths were guilty.

ant speculation whether all of those who have already gone to their deaths were squilty.

Unfair to Negroes.

It has been entremely unfair to the segroes of this county to publish reports rmanating from Richmond of their stitude to this crime. The column article in an afternoon paper last week with relation to the intention of the ingroes to meet the hodies of Judand Isham Taylor with a brass band and isham Taylor with a brass band and is hold a demonstration over their stayes was a fabrication pure and simple without the slightest fagingation in fact. In the first place, no such
